Government of Haiti Is Overthrown Again

Is Fifth One To Be Unseated In Six Months

Police Headquarters Says Army Head Dismissed Fignole

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—The government of Provisional President Daniel Fignole was overthrown today in a military coup.

It was the fifth government to be unseated in this troubled Negro republic since last December. Fignole, who had wide backing among the peasants and working classes, took office after street clashes erupted into brief civil war May 25.

Police headquarters announced that Brig. Gen. Antonio Kbreau, the army chief, "dismissed Fignole and the entire Cabinet." The announcement said a communiqué would be issued later in the day by which the army would take over all governmental powers.

The whereabouts of Fignole and his ministers was not immediately known. They presumably were arrested in the early hours this morning.

Crowds immediately started mushrooming in an ugly mood around police headquarters, the presidential palace and army headquarters. Police and troops stood by ready to cope with any outbreak.

The Fignole partisans were saying openly they plan a mass march to the presidential palace to demand that Fignole take a six-year term as president without holding promised elections. Fignole is tremendously popular with the Port au Prince workers, and any attempt to interfere with their parade could renew the civil warfare which left 118 persons dead or injured May 25.

Fignole took power May 26 in the latest of a series of government upsets which have kept Haiti in turmoil since last December. He has promised an election soon.

Farouk Property Is Now Open for Public Auction

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The auctioneer's hammer banged today in the marbled hall of former King Farouk's Abdin Palace in the heart of Cairo.

The Egyptian government put everything on the block, everything from the exiled monarch's electric massager, his shaving kit and soap collection, to sparkling diamond necklaces and emerald rings.

The collection of jewelry, art objects, silver and gold ware, rugs, vases, porcelain, paintings and sundry other objects—1,016 items in all—is valued by auctioneers at around $200,000.

About 200 Egyptians packed the pillared entry hall for the start of the five-day public sale. Briskly bidding dealers sat in their shirt-sleeves in the steamy heat. Curious women bobbed up and down to get a better look. Fans swished back and forth. One buyer made a penciled calculation on a pillar.

Tubs of iced soda pop stood in the entrance and vendors were kept on the run.

The auctioneer's voice droned steadily over the loudspeaker system—a silver tea kettle and strainer sold for $142, a gold embossed table cloth went for $100, a set of 40 English-made pipes for $300, a Chinese tea set of 49 pieces for $416, a silver soup tureen for $287.

The money goes to the Egyptian treasury.

Missouri Guardsmen Enroute to Ft. Bliss

JOPLIN (AP)—More than 1,100 Missouri National Guardsmen, members of the 203rd Anti-aircraft Artillery Group, left early today for two weeks of maneuvers at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Major units of the group include the 201st and 202nd AAA Battalions, both of St. Louis; the 203rd AAA Battalion of southwest Missouri with units at Anderson, Aurora, Neosho, Monett and Joplin, and the group headquarters at Joplin.

During the first week at Ft. Bliss, the group will move into the desert to establish a three-battalion defense of an area and operate it tactically. Firing is scheduled for the second week.

The group is commanded by Col. Robert S. Dale of Carthage, with Lt. Col. A. C. Banning of Joplin as executive officer.

Before Subcommittee

Humphrey Says Cuts Need Cash Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told Congress today that tax cuts cannot be voted until there is a sufficient surplus in the Treasury to pay for them.

"Such a surplus does not exist at the present time," he said.

Testifying before the Senate-House Economic subcommittee, Humphrey also said the nation can look forward "to a continuing pe-

Sees Foreign Aid As Best Way to Peace

Gives President's View at Conclusion Of GOP Breakfast

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was quoted as telling 42 House Republicans today the administration's foreign aid program amounts to one of the "best possible ways to wage peace."

Rep. Fulton of Pennsylvania reported the President's view at the conclusion of the second of a series of White House breakfasts for GOP members of Congress.

Eisenhower arranged the meetings in an effort to win enactment of his bogged-down legislative program.

Vice President Nixon and Meade Alcorn, chairman of the Republican National Committee, sat in at today's breakfast of orange juice, scrambled eggs, bacon and sausage and coffee. They did not attend the first breakfast Wednesday.

Several of those present reported that the discussion ranged over such topics as defense spending, civil rights, the President's request for authority to veto selective items in appropriation bills, as well as his request for $3,865,000 for foreign aid.

Eisenhower moved from table to table for chats with various groups.

Rep. Halleck of Indiana said in reply to a question that he "didn't hear any criticism" of the administration's program while Eisenhower was at his table.

But there was no immediate evidence, either, that the President has had won any converts.

Rep. Gross of Illinois came back with a quick "No, no" when a reporter asked whether he had been won over to Eisenhower's program of "Modern Republicanism."

Halleck called it "a splendid affair," and added that "everybody appreciated the President's friendliness and candor."

A principal topic while Eisenhower was at his table, Halleck reported, was the administration's defense budget. Halleck said Eisenhowe talked particularly about impressions he got regarding the value of defense while he was observing naval maneuvers a week ago aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

As for foreign aid, Fulton quoted Eisenhowe as saying he felt that program is "absolutely necessary and one of the best possible ways to wage peace."

Modernettes to Give Concert at Liberty Park Saturday Night

The Modernettes of the Monarch Studio of Music, under the direction of Noland Tucker, will play the first in a series of concerts in the city parks beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 15 at Liberty Park.

The children range in age from 6 to 15 years. The following will participate as soloists or in ensemble numbers: Linda Reed, Fredrick Peterson, Harry Harms, Diane Moore, Patricia Rodgers, Freddy Shuckles, Tommy Rash, Linda Kay Webb, Charles Kenneth Wright, Cheryl Stephens, Ruth Ann Rosenhau, Bonnie Kelly, Paul White, Wayne Neece, Eugene Neece, Patricia Green, Barbara Moore, Richard Wagner, Sheila Linville, Carol Sue Smart, Donna Kay Light, Danny Grandfield, Claudia Sue Stivers, Larry Collins, Rox Ann McFarland, Martha Ann Hiemsoth, Edna Gilmore, Virginia Tindell, Barbara Pate, Joyce Reynolds and Noland Tucker Jr.

"The most effective tax cut that can be made to promote healthy economic development is a reduction which will bring benefit to all taxpayers—when your fiscal situation permits," he said.

Humphrey warned against what he called ill-considered "meat-and-slashing of the budget."

Humphrey went on to say that the biggest budget problem is one of obtaining long-term savings, and noted that with the end of the 1957 fiscal year this month the government has in prospect a balanced budget for three consecutive years "for the first time in more than 25 years."

"If we are successful in properly controlling the size and spending of government, we can look forward to a continuing period of high prosperity for our country," he said.

"A major ingredient in this high prosperity is the confidence of the American people—confidence in themselves, in each other and, of fundamental importance, confidence in their government."

"One thing that can destroy not only our present prosperity but even jeopardize our way of life is runaway inflation," he said.

"The restraints on credit involving some increases in the cost of money and the maintenance of taxes at the present levels at least until such time as we have a substantial excess of income over expenditures, are important factors which will assist in restraining a substantial increase in the cost of living."

Humphrey and Federal Reserve Chairman William McC. Martin were called as windup witnesses before a Senate-House Economic subcommittee investigating tax and fiscal policies of the government.

Budget Director Percival F. Brundage told the subcommittee yesterday it would be "very bad" to go ahead with tax cuts now and add to what he said are inflationary pressures already pushing federal spending upward.

Rep. Halleck of Indiana said in reply to a question that he "didn't hear any criticism" of the administration's program while Eisenhower was at his table.

But there was no immediate evidence, either, that the President has had won any converts.

The older Bus then said, "he was nervous. He kept lifting the gun up and waving it back and forth. He ordered me to give my billfold to him and I tossed it over on the floor. I begged him not to take it as I had some valuable papers in it but no money and he looked and left it lying on the floor."

Peterson Nominated Denmark Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Val Peterson to be ambassador to Denmark. Leo A. Hoegh, former Republican governor of Iowa, was picked to succeed Peterson as federal civil defense administrator.

Both nominations are subject to Senate confirmation.

Governor Receives Appeals To Declare Special Session

TOO MUCH AFTER TOO LITTLE—After prolonged dryness, too much rainfall has been more of a problem than too little this year in many areas of Kansas. This corn field near Perry, Kans., was flooded by a cloudburst. With harvest time near, most farmers would like to see it "rain on the corn but not on the wheat." Wet weather is causing a two-week delay in the wheat harvest in the state. (NEA Telephoto)

Truman Speaks to 4-H Meet

Says US President Is Only Lobbyist for the People

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—The president is "the only lobbyist the whole people have in Washington, former President Harry S. Truman said today.

He made the comment in a talk prepared for a 4-H club rally at the University of Missouri. Talking to youngsters about American government has been his favorite activity since leaving the White House.

The Negro, brandishing a gun, ordered the older of the two into the northeast corner of the room. The Younger Bus said he told the holdup man the money wasn't in the cash register. He then said "toss it over here on the floor."

Bus reached into the cooler, got the money sack and tossed it over. He said the man apparently didn't believe it was money and said to throw over the rest. "I convinced him there wasn't any more in the register," only checks, which was right," Bus said.

"The man then ordered me to give him my billfold," Bus continued, "and I took it out and showed him there wasn't anything in it and put it back."

The older Bus then said, "he was nervous. He kept lifting the gun up and waving it back and forth. He ordered me to give my billfold to him and I tossed it over on the floor. I begged him not to take it as I had some valuable papers in it but no money and he looked and left it lying on the floor."

Cause of the wreck was not known.

Engineers on the scene this morning said the bridge, about a mile and a half southwest of here, would have to be reinforced before traffic could be routed over it.

Police admitted they had little to go on.

Four men picked up for questioning after the child's body was discovered yesterday in a small woods about 2½ miles from her home in suburban Ecorse Township, two were released.

A box car was wedged into the north end of the bridge, a main support being struck by the car. Still attached to the car was a coal car minus its trucks. It was dangling from the end of the bridge.

Cause of the wreck was not known.

Police continued questioning Orville Dibble, 45, an itinerant commercial photographer seen in the neighborhood of the girl's home Wednesday. And they held Jacques Pares, 23, of Patchogue, N.Y., who was arrested when officers found what they first believed to be bloodstains in his car. Tests later showed the stains were not blood.

Mary, daughter of a Ford Motor Co. technical writer, disappeared Wednesday evening.

Her body, partly concealed by weeds, was found by an area resident who went into the woods to get topsoil for his garden.

The body was partially stripped. Mary's faded blue shorts were lying under her shoulder and her white buckled shoes had been placed carefully on a stump near her head.

Her hands were tied behind her back with a white shoe lace.

Dr. Robert J. Silley, chief deputy Wayne County medical examiner, said she had been raped and murdered where she was found.

A post-mortem showed she died of a fractured skull and a stab wound on the left side of her neck. Her body was punctured with deep knife wounds.

County Judges Request Action on Road Funds

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. James T. Blair said today he has received appeals from county judges all over the state to call a special session of the Legislature to appropriate county aid road funds.

He said 35 to 40 telegrams and telephone calls have been received since the Legislature adjourned May 31 without appropriating any money for state aid to county mail, milk and school bus routes under the King road law.

Blair indicated he is working on the appropriation bills that did pass but said he could not reach any decision on a special session until he completes his study. He has 45 days to act on bills passed in the final rush before adjournment.

As it passed the House, the final catchall bill carried $4 million for the county aid road fund. The Senate cut that to $3 million but the bill died when adjournment came before the two houses could settle their differences over it.

Working his way through a mass of other bills, the governor signed one to permit an alternate juror to sit with the 12 regular jurors in civil or criminal cases that promise to be long drawn out affairs. The alternate would take over if one of the regular jurors became ill.

Also signed was a bill that will allow old age assistance clients to repay emergency loans to relatives without jeopardizing their right to stay on the pension rolls.

Blair said it is ridiculous to take an old person off the rolls just because he pays an honest debt.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. G. C. Vanstraten

Mrs. G. C. Vanstraten, 73, died at 6:05 p. m. Thursday at her home in Clarksburg. Mrs. Vanstraten had lived in Clarksburg since 1924.

She was born Sept. 17, 1888, in Montgomery County, Mo. Her maiden name was Margaret McDonald.

In October of 1901, she was married to G. C. Vanstraten. Mr. Vanstraten predeceased her in death March 29, 1945.

Mrs. Vanstraten was a member of the Clarksburg Baptist church and had been a Baptist since 1911. She was the sponsor of the Business Women's Circle at the time of her death and had been a Sunday School teacher for many years. She had also been president of the WMS.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Herbert Howe, Lopus, Mo.; Mrs. C. J. White, Plattsburgh, N.Y., and Mrs. Jack Crawford, Jefferson City; three sons, Clyde C. Vanstraten, Jefferson City, Edward Vanstraten, Clarksburg, and Oliver Vanstraten, Omaha, Neb.; 15 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Kidwell Funeral Home in Versailles. Burial will be in the Tuscumia Cemetery.

The body is at the Kidwell Funeral Home to remain until after the services.

Jason Chamberlin

Jason Chamberlin, 83, died Friday morning at his home east of Houstonia.

He was born March 1, 1874, at Independence, the son of Mollie and Tom Chamberlin, and on March 15, 1899, he was married to Clara C. Thornton at Hughesville.

He was a member of the Hughesville Baptist Church and a lifelong resident of Houstonia.

Advocates of cuts conceded the odds were against them. But they flailed away at the bill most of yesterday.

Morse said "a senseless waste of millions" has contributed to what he called "a rising tide of anti-Americanism throughout the world."

Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga) said economic aid has been used for everything from "bathing facilities for Egyptian camel drivers" to "collapsible toothpaste tubes to Cambodia."

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) charged there was "little mutual" about the mutual security program, "other than the fact that American taxpayers are mutually sick of paying the full load for the rest of the world."

But the bill was championed stoutly by others of both parties. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) accused opponents of raising "smokescreen arguments."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) declared that because of foreign aid "the crack in the Iron Curtain is widening" and that Red satellites are looking hopefully to the day when they, like Yugoslavia, "may be free" from Russian domination.

She was born Dec. 21, 1862 in Windsor and spent her entire life there. On July 6, 1882 she married Julius F. Wall who was a druggist in Windsor for many years.

Surviving are two sons, Dr. Harvey M. Wall, Windsor; Virgil D. Wall, Short Hills, N. J.; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. A daughter died in infancy. Lida M. Burruss, 1420 South Vermont, is a cousin.

Virgil Wall will arrive in Kansas City from New Jersey this evening.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon. Burial will be in the Laurel Cemetery in Windsor.

The body is at the Kidwell Funeral Home in Versailles.

Miss Preuss
Becomes Bride
Of R. Ripley

Miss Betty Preuss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Preuss, Holden, and Robert Ripley, son of Mrs. Grace Ripley, Otterville, were married at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, May 29, at the Blackwater Methodist Church by the Rev. John Walker. The church altar was decorated with white gladiolas and pink painted daisies and glowing white tapers in tall candleabra.

Miss Susie Hyatt, Smithton, accompanied Miss Donna Hall, Clinton, as she sang several chosen selections.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a full length gown of petal pink embroidered net over taffeta which swept into a full length chapel train. The bodice was designed with a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. Her wrist length veil of ice pink illusion net was held in place by a crown of iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of white shattered carnations and dark pink roses.

Her maid of honor, Miss Eva Preuss, and bridesmaid, Miss Joyce Baldwin, Warrensburg, wore identical ballerina length dresses of light pink nylon organza over white taffeta. The sleeveless bodice was styled with a Sabrina neckline and a large bow was tied in back at the waist. They carried colonial bouquets of dark pink carnations. The maid of honor is a sister of the bride.

The candles were lighted by Misses Jane and Cynthia Harvey, Harrisonville. Their dresses of dark pink were fashioned like the attendants. Light pink carnations adorned the candles they carried.

Paul Ripley, Tulsa, Okla., served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Jack Smith, Otterville, R. W. Harvey, Harrisonville, and ushers were Glen Flomertell, Kansas City, and Jim Preuss, Holden.

Kathy Spicer of Holden was flower girl. She was dressed in a floor length dress of petal pink nylon organza over taffeta, designed with lace yoke and puffed sleeves. She carried dark pink flowers in a white basket.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Preuss chose a light pink embroidered cotton dress accented with ecru accessories and dark pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a light blue linen dress with white accessories and pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the church basement following the ceremony.

The light pink three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table which was also adorned with pink roses and pink net bows.

Sorority Entertains With Picnic at Park

The members of Epsilon Beta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, entertained their husbands, guests and children at a pot luck supper, Monday evening, June 10, at Liberty Park. This was also used as a ways and means project for the chapter by having each one measure their waist after they had eaten. Mrs. Bill Burkholder, ways and means chairman, charged a penny an inch for the price of the meal. Approximately $10 was realized from this, which will be used to further the chapter's project at Buena Vista. Mrs. John Beatty, Mrs. Raymond Harmon, and Mrs. Ed Lyles were in charge of the supper.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Parks, Kathy, Patry and Debbie, Mrs. Robert Fingland, Sherry, Judy, and Bobbie, Miss Jo Ann Wissman, Miss Clarice Mettler, Miss Jane Wadleigh, Joe Furnell, Mr. and Mrs. John Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Van Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brummett and Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Guil Flores Jr., and Lisa, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flippen, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lyles, Debbie Kay and Eddie Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Harmon, Debbie and Brent, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burkholder and Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Broyles.

Invited guests were: Miss Graham, A-1c Harry Wells, A-2c Billy Joe Walters, Miss Edna Kabler, Miss Alberta Davis, Miss Lois Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis and Leo Seiffner.

The evening was spent in conversation and dancing.

Starlight Festival For Square Dancers

The Starlight Festival and Moonlight Fiesta for square dancers will be held in the Indian Foothills Park at Marshall, Saturday, June 29. Square dancing will be atop the swimming pool at the park and more than 20 well known callers including Ray McCrory, Emcee; Herb Winebrenner and Damon Hieronymus of Sedalia, will be on hand. Dancing will be from 7:30 to 11:30.

Ones planning to eat fiesta lunch should send in reservations by June 22. Tickets for dancing may be secured at the door.

Supervised playgrounds will be available to those who bring their families, as well as swimming, picnicking, golfing, tennis, croquet, shuffleboard and baseball facilities.

Does The Flag Still Wave?

"Oh, say does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave, O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?"

A timely, albeit ironical question on this 180th anniversary of the Flag of the United States, a question which today lacks the expression of anxiety experienced when captive Francis Scott Key could not know whether the Americans were holding out against a British bombardment.

Flag Day is just another one of those patriotic occasions when most persons take for granted their patriotism and unblemished citizenship. They believe the question Francis Scott Key asked must always have an affirmative reply so long as someone else is flying the flag on their front porch, in front of their business establishment or above a government building.

Certainly the Flag yet waves over the land of the free and the home of the brave. But more of them should be flown on stated occasions calling for their display.

Sedalia is not the only community remiss in this rededication of allegiance on Memorial Day, Flag Day, Fourth of July, Veterans' Day and other appropriate times.

Have too many of us concluded that displaying the flag is too old-fashioned as an acknowledgment of its symbolism of human rights and all the liberties we enjoy in this land of ours?

The answer to that question appears to be yes. And so this should cause us to pause and contemplate how such an adult attitude affects the impressionable minds of America's growing youngsters.

Selling America by promoting display of and respect for the flag may have the essence of an archaic concept in these fast-moving and self-sufficient times. Nevertheless if the symbol is forgotten then, too, what it stands for may also vanish and become unrecognizable in the minds of oncoming generations.

Now that so many have forgotten to hoist the Flag on Flag Day, let's resolve to raise our national banner on Fourth of July and other suitable occasions.

Sedalia's downtown district offers an appropriate setting for reviving such neglected observances.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Demands of GOP Old Guard Harass Ike

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Old guard Republicans are going to resent it, but modern Republicans are saying that the future of the President's health is largely up to the old guarders.

If he hadn't been so harassed by budget cuts, if he hadn't had to jump up to Capitol Hill for a box luncheon with GOP congressmen, if he hadn't had to fly back from Florida to speak to the Republican national committee, they say, the recent stomach seizure would not have happened.

This is exaggerated, but probably there is some truth to it. The work of the President is crushing enough. If on top of this he has to whip his own political party into line, the burden can be unbearable.

GOP Chairman Meade Allcorn had just persuaded the President to undertake a series of back-slapping conferences with rank-and-file members of the GOP. The Capitol Hill box luncheon was the start. A series of White House breakfasts, 40 congressmen at a time, was to follow.

Ike wasn't enthusiastic, doesn't like back-slapping, though he does it well. However, he will be the last man to mourn if this is now curtailed. Modern Republicans say it's now up to old guard Republicans to cooperate without putting any extra burden on Ike. If it works out that way, this week's stomach upset will be a blessing in disguise.

June 5, 1956—June 57

Whether you call it ileitis or nausea or a nervous colon, the fact is that President Eisenhower has always suffered from stomach trouble when under heavy strain, and his staff will have to govern his schedule accordingly.

He can handle the routine chores of office without any trouble. But events and problems have a tendency to pile up.

Here is the interesting record of what has happened to the President when events and problems piled up in the past:

June 9, 1956—Just before last year's ileitis attack the following events had happened: House leaders were called in and urged to reinstate a $1,000,000,000 cut in foreign aid. . . . The President had refused to support his supporter, Sen. Alex Wiley, in the battle by Wisconsin McCartyites to defeat him. . . . A newspaper asked why he supported Secretary McKay in Oregon but not Wiley. The color rose on the back of Ike's neck. . . . Ex-Senator Harry Cain got into a shouting match with the White House staff in front of Ike regarding unfairness toward alleged subversives. . . . All these seemed to snowball into 48 disagreeable, difficult hours just before the President was stricken.

June 10, 1957—Just before the recent stomach upset, the President again faced the battle of the budget plus a reversal regarding Army Specialist 3-c William Girard and British-Chinese trade. He had definitely agreed that Girard should be tried in an American military court when John Foster Dulles demanded—and won—a reversal. He had also given his indirect blessing to British trade with Red China by stating June 5: "You are going to have just authorized trade or you are going to have clandestine trade.

In contrast, his State Department had said on May 30: "The United States is most disappointed by this action."

Last week he also performed the distasteful ceremony of welcoming the ambassador of the Dominican Republic, Manuel de Moya, bosom pal of Dictator Trujillo.

"Your return to Washington for a second assignment will be particularly gratifying," said the President dutifully.

"I would like to take this opportunity," he added, "to convey through you my personal greetings to his excellency the president of the Dominican Republic."

All this at a time when a congressional committee and the State Department were investigating the Dominican murder of an American pilot and a Columbia University professor who once taught under Eisenhower.

Sandwiched in was a 30-minute trip to Capitol Hill for a box luncheon with GOP congressmen; a flight to Florida to review the Navy; a flight back to Washington to address the GOP national committee; the dedication of a new building at American University.

Such are the burdens of the presidency. No wonder the President began to feel ill.

Clean House—Or Else'

Walther Reuther, vice-president of the AFL-CIO, has now taken the Teamsters' union affair to its ultimate stage. He threatens a competitive truck drivers' organization if the Teamsters fail to clean house.

Obviously he hopes it won't come to that, instead the present union will get rid of Dave Beck, its president, and other errant officials and get back on the track.

If it does not, the clear warning is that the federation will throw the Teamsters out and set up a new organization. Since that very course was followed with the racket-ridden International Longshoremen's Association, the Teamsters can well imagine that Reuther isn't kidding.

The defiance of federation authority being uttered by Teamster officials will avail them little. There is no doubt the organization does have the power to suspend or oust any erring union. The affected union isn't likely to impress the public or anybody else by arguing that it isn't so.

The only thing the Teamsters can do now to make an impact on the American people and the labor movement particularly is to heed Reuther's warning. If they choose to snort instead, they may not have too many more breaths to draw in good company.

Language Training

Common sense would indicate that an ambassador to a foreign country would do a better job if he could speak that country's language. This is becoming more and more important in the leadership role which the United States now has.

Secretary Dulles recognizes this need and is going before the Senate Appropriation Committee to plead for restoration of funds for the language training program which has been seriously cut.

There are career diplomats available in this country who speak foreign languages exceedingly well. Since the world wars, many American civilians have been working abroad and have accustomed themselves to the language and habits of those countries. From this source, too, some qualified personnel should be available.

The Department of Foreign Service might save money and do a better job if it availed itself of a staff which had experience in Chicago's Midway Airport recently. She was looking for a son who was pausing a few minutes between flights. She had little information but she longed to see her busy son—too busy to give to his mother the attention for which she longed.

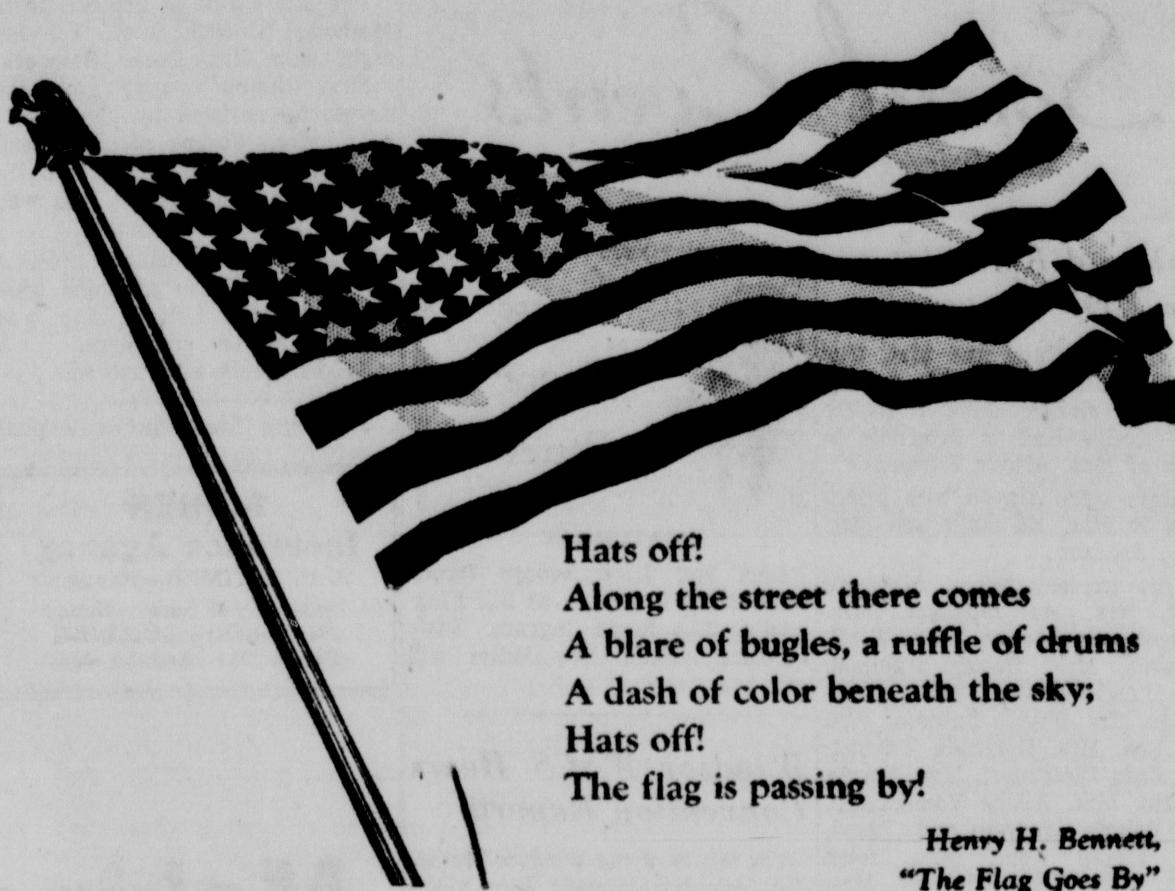

At the moment of despair when it seemed impossible to find the young man in the great mass of traveling humanity, she spoke to a sympathetic girl at an information desk. Somehow, a few loudspeakers called out their words of inquiry. The mother and son were brought together for all available minutes.

When we are lost, we can call on God and in His mysterious way, He gives us joy and peace and comfort. Let us seek Him instead of wandering through the lonely corridors of life.

And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made.—Genesis 2:2.

See Christians, Jews, one heavy Sabbath keep, and all the western world believe and sleep!—Alexander Pope.

Who Let Stassen's 'Spanking' Be Known?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—In this town you can get your throat cut so neatly you never know it happened till you shake your head—or someone shakes it for you.

Harold Stassen has just been made to look like an errand boy who can't be let out alone without a guardian, although his job is to try to work out a disarmament agreement with the Allies and Russia.

It might seem a man given this gigantic assignment could be trusted to handle himself with the best. But yesterday it was learned the State Department is putting a top-level diplomat with him to give him on-the-spot guidance.

For a long time Stassen had worked directly under Eisenhower as his aide on disarmament. This was the closest that Stassen—who three times sought the Republican presidential nomination ever got to the presidency.

But for the past few months he has been working under the State Department, which means under Secretary of State Dulles.

Suddenly this week Washington developed enough leaks to sink perhaps even a harder ship than Stassen who, no matter how hard he is rebuffed, always manages to look like a man saying: "Ain't things getting dandy?"

The leaks—some apparently came out of the State Department although that isn't necessarily where they started—reported that Dulles had reprimanded Stassen for the way he handled himself in Europe.

Twice he has flown back and forth across the Atlantic, coming here to talk over with the State Department his disarmament talks in Europe, and coming back to talk some more.

American allies—particularly Britain and France—had complained the trouble with Stassen was that he talked too much and with the wrong people.

They complained about his private talks with Valerian Zorin, Russian representative at the disarmament conference. This reflected a fear he might be negotiating with Russia behind their backs.

As a future presidential candidate Stassen already looked like a man with his future behind him. Now it wouldn't be surprising if he began to fade out soon even as a member of the Eisenhower administration.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, House Democratic leader, said yesterday Stassen had been trying to undercut Dulles for months and that Dulles seems to have been successful in giving Stassen "enough rope to hang himself."

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, when asked whether Dulles for a fact had reprimanded Stassen refused to confirm or deny it. But on top of the reports about the reprimand came this:

So-called "responsible informants"—no doubt at the State Department—told reporters the department had assigned Julius Holmes, nighblanking diplomat, to follow Stassen to London as his adviser.

They said Holmes' long experience in diplomacy will help Stassen keep within State Department policy.

Stassen could hardly suffer a worse rebuff than that since by letting Holmes' assignment be known, the State Department is practically saying it can't afford to let Stassen out of its sight.

But Stassen, taking off again for London yesterday, denied he had been reprimanded by Dulles. He conceded he has been given new "procedural" instructions. A word like that might include instructions on almost anything.

Stassen was smiling and appeared unperturbed as he left. That's not new for him.

You'd never think the roof fell in on him in 1956 when he tried to block the renomination of Vice President Nixon at the Republican convention. He angered and startled the Republican bosses and none rallied to his side.

He was left strictly alone. But, unabashed, Stassen got up and seconded Nixon's nomination at the convention. Nixon has had very little to say about Stassen publicly.

Washington is wondering now who first leaked the news of Stassen's trouble with Dulles.

About Food Or Vitamins As Cause Of Arthritis

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

As far back as medical history goes, fads and fancies have come and gone. Probably some will always be with us.

Q—Do you agree that a faulty diet causes arthritis and that a special diet will cure it?—R.L.

A—Diet fads for arthritis have appeared frequently and probably will continue to do so until science has discovered more about its causes and better ways of treating it. However, I do not believe that diet is an important cause of arthritis, nor that any special foods will cure most forms of joint disease.

According to the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, "Extensive research has failed to show that the absence or presence of any food or vitamin will either cause or cure any form of arthritis."

Q—Please discuss black tongue.

What causes it and could a reaction from sulfa or penicillin be responsible?—K.L.M.

A—This disorder of the tongue, which is also sometimes known as hairy tongue, is of unknown cause and relatively harmless. Treatment is aimed at clearing away the offending growth on the tongue, which is scraped or brushed off. Sometimes certain applications are suggested. However, the condition does frequently return. I do not know that the sulfa preparations have been incriminated, but penicillin has been reported to cause this disorder.

Q—Since last October I have had several spells during which my heart has beaten very fast, reaching as high as 222 times per minute.

The doctor has taken electrocardiograms both when it was beating rapidly and when it was normal and says there is nothing organically wrong with the heart itself. What do you think of this?—L.R.

A—This is most probably a condition which is called paroxysmal tachycardia. It is characterized by rapid heartbeat at irregular intervals. It is not too uncommon usually quite harmless and does not reflect any disease of the heart itself. Some people have such attacks for years without experiencing any obviously harmful effects. The general health should be looked after.

Wake Up at First Danger Signs in Your Marriage

The time for a wife to start worrying about the "other woman" is when she first senses that her husband isn't happy. That's usually long before the other woman moves in.

A wife writes: "For two or three years my husband has seemed dissatisfied and he hasn't been easy to get along with."

"But I thought he was working too hard and that things would straighten out in time, so I didn't worry about it. Now I discover that he thinks he is in love with a girl who started working in his office six months ago. I don't want a divorce because I still love my husband. But how can I go on living with a man who is in love with someone else?"

It's too bad you didn't start worrying about your husband's obvious dissatisfaction before another woman had chance to convince him that she alone in all the world really understands him.

By just hoping that everything would work itself out you left your husband an easy mark for any woman who had no scruples about trying to break up your home.

Let Him Know

So far you've made it easy for the other woman. But you don't need to continue to make it easy for her by weekly getting a divorce and, in effect, saying "He's all yours."

Instead of doing that, be sure your husband knows how much you love him and how much your marriage means to you. Then sit

What, No Red Tape?

House Anti-Trust Probers Think FCC Too Informal

By Joseph A. Dear
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—A congressional committee made news this week by criticizing the absence of red tape at a government agency.

The House anti-trust subcommittee, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) chairman, charges that the Federal Communications Commission is unethically informal.

In its report on the television broadcasting industry, the subcommittee urges FCC to adopt a code of ethics pronto. Members of the Commission, the report says, have been all too willing to discuss pending cases with interested parties.

The consensus is that the criticism is in order.

Celler's subcommittee praises the Justice Department for vigilance with respect to the anti-trust problem created by concentration and domination in TV broadcasting. FCC is condemned on this point.

The report notes that FCC appeared without a hearing the station swapping of Westinghouse and National Broadcasting in 1955. FCC apparently was unaware of the Justice Department's interest in this affair. After FCC okayed the exchange, the Justice Department instituted grand jury proceedings and filed an anti-trust suit against the participants.

The report notes that Justice now is "engaged in a comprehensive investigation" of TV broadcasting to determine whether an industry wide suit should be filed.

Ike's Administration, which is pro-business in its orientation, nevertheless compiles an impressive record in the anti-trust field.

The government's victory in the Du Pont-General Motors suit tops the list. The suit was begun during the Truman era. After a lengthy</p

Kansas City Wins 6 to 2 With Homers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City A's are still in seventh place in the American League, but rookie Jack Urban is thankful the A's once more are the league's No. 1 team in home runs.

Bob Cerv, Harry Simpson, Hec Lopez and Joe DeMaestri all blasted the ball out of the park last night at Kansas City and the A's behind Urban's five-hit pitching beat Washington 6-2 and moved within a half game of sixth place. The A's now lead the New York Yankees in homers, 62-59.

It was the first major league start for Urban, who was part of that 13-player deal the A's and Yankees pulled last February.

The eight-game winning streak of the St. Louis Cardinals came to an abrupt end at Philadelphia, dropping the Redbirds to fifth place, but it may have been a blessing in disguise.

The reason? The Cardinals got a good look last night at their new $50,000 bonus righthander, 18-year-old Von McDaniel.

McDaniel came in with the 8-1 game already gone in the fifth and gave the Phillies just one single in four innings. He didn't walk a man and struck out four.

The pressure was off, true, but it was a sensational debut for a youngster who last pitched competitively in Oklahoma high school playoffs.

The Cardinals still are only a game and a half from first place. Jack Sanford, Philie rookie, ran his National League-leading record to 8-1 with a steady nine-hitter.

Both McCown's, Phillips 66 Cut Down the Giants

Phillips 66 and McCown's proved giant killers Wednesday night in Babe Ruth competition as Phillips defeated Brown's 7-6 and McCown's upset Western Auto to the tune of 18-11. Both of these teams were previously undefeated in Babe Ruth play.

In the first game of the evening Western Auto went into the bottom of the fourth inning with an 11-5 lead. However, in that inning their pitchers developed a streak of wildness and walked 12 men which coupled with one hit and two errors enabled McCown's to score 12 runs. Western Auto used four pitchers but were unable to get effective pitching from any of them. For Western Auto, Anderson collected for two hits and Dotson and Fricke each got one hit. McCown's also got four hits, Wadleigh getting two and Stansbury and Watson one each. Kellner started on the mound for McCown's but was ineffective and was relieved by Shultz, who received credit for the victory.

In the second game of the evening, Brown's was sailing along with a 6-1 lead going into the sixth inning. At that time Phillips came to life and combined two hits with four errors and one base on balls to score six runs and win 7-6. Phillips collected six hits, Bennett and Case each getting two and Holman and Mateja one each. Jones started on the mound for Phillips but was relieved by Fariss in the third inning and he received credit for the victory. For Brown's, Benner went all the way on the mound and pitched creditable ball, but errors by his teammates proved to be his downfall. Brown's made four hits, Benner getting two and Truman and Streit one each.

Monday night's schedule calls for Phillips to play McCown's at 6 and Mullins meets Western Auto at 8.

Dartmouth won consecutive Ivy League basketball titles from 1938 through 1944.

Golf Greats, Dazed, Begin Second Round

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — America's golfing greats were a slightly battered and bewildered brigade today as they charged into the second round of the 57th National Open Championship.

Historic Inverness and the elements combined yesterday to give the shotmakers a pretty fair shalacking. Only nine of the 145 who finished the opening 18-hole round on schedule were able to hold their own, against par 70.

Out front, with the greatest start he's ever had in the big show, was dapper Jimmy Demaret, Damesha Lake, N.Y. He used only 26 putts in carding 68.

Ben Hogan, four-time winner dropped out yesterday without firing a shot. He was troubled by a back ailment.

As darkness fell, following a long holdup of play due to heavy rains and winds, 15 players were on the course with holes still to play in the first round. They were called back to complete the session this morning.

Among them was Chick Herbert, former PGA champion from Northville, Mich. As he stepped up to the 17th tee, he needed only two pars to the Demaret.

Of those who finished the first round on time, but soaking wet, the big challengers were Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., Masters champion and the year's No. 1 money winner; Julius Boros, Southern Pines, N.C., and 1952 Open king; and Ken Venturi, San Francisco, who turned pro about six months ago.

The trio had scores of 69 for 69 on a 6,919-yard course, and with Demaret were the only ones to break par.

Matching par at 70 were five stalwarts: Marvin (Bud) Ward, San Mateo, Calif.; Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex.; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Billie Joe Patton, Morgantown, N.C.; and Bo Wining, Odessa.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the defending champion from Memphis, came home with a 71.

Vie for Championship In Women's Tourney

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Meriam Bailey of Northwestern, the Illinois state amateur champion, and Judy Bell of Arizona play for the championship of the National Women's Collegiate Golf Tournament today.

The trio had scores of 69 for 69 on a 6,919-yard course, and with Demaret were the only ones to break par.

Matching par at 70 were five stalwarts: Marvin (Bud) Ward, San Mateo, Calif.; Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex.; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Billie Joe Patton, Morgantown, N.C.; and Bo Wining, Odessa.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the defending champion from Memphis, came home with a 71.

They meet in an 18-hole title round on the par 76 University of Illinois course.

Miss Bailey passed her stiffest test in the semifinals yesterday and downed Ann Rutherford of Penn State, 1 up.

Miss Bell eliminated Jean Ashley of Kansas, 3 and 2.

Braves Back in Lead

Pennant Races May Get Hot From Early Season Actions

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

How hot can the pennant races get in September, what with first place resting on percentage-point leads and player brawls bustin' out all over in June?

The Milwaukee Braves, following Manager Fred Haney's spring time directive to the letter, hustled and scrapped back into the National League lead, by eight percentage points, with a riotous 8-5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday.

They made it with the help of Pittsburgh's Pirates as Manager Bobby Bragan's kids swept a four-game set from Cincinnati, skidding the Redlegs from first to third with a 3-2 victory. Philadelphia surged back into second place, six points ahead of the Redlegs, with an 8-1 victory that ended St. Louis' winning streak at eight games and plunked the Cardinals back to fifth—only 1½ games away from first and nine points back of fourth-place Brooklyn.

The American League had its moments too. Chicago and New York had a rip-roaring, 28-minute melee before the second-place Yankees trimmed the White Sox lead to four games with a 4-3 decision.

And Ted Williams tied a major league record, unloading three home runs in one game for the second time this season as the Boston Red Sox hammered Cleveland 9-3, knocking the Indians back to fourth place. Detroit regained third, nipping Baltimore 2-1.

Kansas City smacked Washington 6-2 and the New York Giants clipped the Chicago Cubs 7-4 in the other games.

The Braves, who were last in the lead May 15, hustled back after a 3:58 last year. Last weekend Delany, without being pressed, scooted the mile in 4:05 at Houston, and the same evening beat Tom Courtney, the Fordham star who claimed the world's record of 1:46.8 in May, in the 880 with a time of 1:48.4.

Track experts predict Bowden and Delany will qualify easily in the half-mile prelims tonight and their duel tomorrow will be something to see. Bowden has run the half in 1:47.8—just three tenths of a second over the recognized world's record set in 1955 by Lon Spurrier.

More than 280 athletes converged on Austin today for the 36th annual NCAA meet with a lone preliminary getting the show on the road this afternoon. The discus men, featuring Al Oerter of Kansas, the Olympic champion will be seen in the one trial.

All other preliminaries are to-night with everything except the mile and two-mile being run off. All finals are tomorrow.

Villanova was a top-heavy favorite to win the team championship.

The Sedalia Chiefs continued their winning last night by defeating Tipton 19-12. It was a good game filled with plenty of action. Don Barbour added to the thrills with a grand-slam homer in the seventh inning. Carter of Tipton also homered with two men on base. Jerry Wolf tripled for Tipton. Those were the hits for extra bases.

For Tipton, Carter was the losing pitcher, being replaced by Wolf in the seventh.

Eroy Burton started out on the mound, but had to be replaced in the seventh by Kubli, who was credited with the win.

The Ban Johnson Chiefs had 13 hits and ten walks, while Tipton gained 15 hits and six walks. Sedalia was able to spread out Tipton's hits sufficiently so as to maintain their lead.

The Chiefs play Marshall here tonight, June 14, at 8 p.m.

John Kobs in baseball, Fendley Collins in wrestling and Ben Van Alstyne in golf have a combined service record of 35 years as coaches at Michigan State.

Storekeeper's Taking Many Wooden Nickels

WELLSVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Storekeepers are taking wooden nickels here these days.

Centennial observance officials have distributed wooden souvenirs in five-cent denominations to business places. They sell for a nickel and will be accepted in trade.

Anyone who doesn't want the wooden nickels may redeem them at a bank. Proceeds from sale of the souvenirs will help promote the centennial celebration.

Arab Leaders Take Stand On Unity

AMMAN, Jordan (P)—King Hussein and visiting King Saud of Saudi Arabia again have paid lip service to the standard Arab unity positions despite the crack in the Arab front.

The two rulers issued a communique last night on their Amman talks but made no reference to the current bitter dispute between Jordan and Egypt.

Instead, they declared they will "dedicate all possible efforts to preserve the purity of the atmosphere of brotherly relations among Arab states and tighten the national ties among them on the basis of true cooperation and complete understanding."

The communique reaffirmed the doctrine of "positive neutrality," pledged to stay out of "any forward pact" and vowed to secure "full independence, free from every foreign domination and warranting the complete sovereignty of all Arab countries."

The statement also supported military collaboration agreements between Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Egypt and Syria for defense against the mutual enemy—Israel." This support was expressed despite the fact that only the remnants of the joint Syrian-Egyptian-Jordanian military command remained in Jordan.

The communique again insisted that the Gulf of Aqaba is Arab territorial water under complete Arab jurisdiction and Arab sovereignty.

"They do not recognize any right for Israel or any others to have any right to it," the statement declared.

Of perhaps greatest importance to impoverished Jordan was the announcement the two kings had agreed to study carefully economic cooperation and encouragement of investment of Saudi and Jordanian capital in economic projects in both kingdoms. This presumably was a diplomatic way of saying that Saud might invest some of his vast oil wealth in his neighbor.

Saud flew home today, although it had been announced earlier he would extend his visit—previously planned for six days—until tomorrow or Sunday. There was no explanation of the changes in plans.

FLN Gets Blame For Algerian Mass Slaughter

ALGIERS (P)—Algeria's French government has laid a new massacre at the door of nationalist rebels. The French said 35 Arab men died in the mass killing.

The office of Resident Minister Robert Lacoste blamed the National Liberation Front (FLN), the largest Algerian rebel group. The French also attributed the massacre of 338 Algerians in the Melouza area last month to the FLN.

A French communique said the second massacre occurred May 30 in the Wagram area of western Algeria. It gave this account:

Thirty FLN rebels, armed with machine guns and rifles, "assembled the male adults from the sections of Ouled Zebouki, Ouled Benkoba and Ouled Bouhalia and massacred them in two rooms of a farm." Twenty-seven were killed and 16 wounded.

Later, eight men were killed and four wounded in Douar Ouled Faleide, about nine miles to the south.

An FLN statement issued in Tunis charged that the wild anti-Moslem rioting by an enraged French population in Algiers Tuesday killed 61 Algerians and wounded 200. Official French sources listed five Algerians killed in the riots, which followed funeral services for French victims of a terrorist bombing.

The French said their troops killed 9 rebels throughout Algeria yesterday.

Bulganin, Khrushchev Return From Finland

LONDON (P)—Moscow radio today reported the return of Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev from their tour of neighboring Finland.

Bulganin told a welcoming crowd at the railroad station the visit "justified all our hopes." He said the visit had been short—a week—but the Russians had gotten the firm impression "the people of Finland do not want war and cherish friendship with the Soviet people."

Excellent Lunch

SENTINEL, Okla. (P)—Jimmy Owings was so proud of the tomato he had grown early in the season that he asked the editor of the Sentinel Leader to take a look.

They visited the garden but no tomato. Then Owings discovered his wife had harvested the tomato and served it.

Rhode Island, the nation's smallest state, has the shortest motto: "Hope."

Ironic Incident At Police Station

SALT LAKE CITY (P)—William E. Lee, local taxpayer, stopped off at police headquarters yesterday to see what his taxes are buying in the way of police protection.

Police gave him a tour of the department, and he left.

But he came back moments later to report that his car, parked just outside, was minus one tire and wheel-swiped during his visit.

Saud flew home today, although it had been announced earlier he would extend his visit—previously planned for six days—until tomorrow or Sunday. There was no explanation of the changes in plans.

caused too much to want to end it," observed Deputy Arthur E. Tabler.

All cleared up, after 2½ hours, when Mrs. William H. Shaw gave sheriff's deputies no help whatever in identifying herself.

"She enjoyed the excitement she was missing from her bed."

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Some years ago I presided over Sunday afternoon meetings for men, after the order of the P.S.A. (Pleasant Sunday Afternoon) Brotherhoods, for many years a British institution, which had notable meetings in some Canadian cities.

At the Hamilton, Ontario, meeting we had guest speakers. Outstanding in my memory is a Baptist minister, who was a professional and very brilliant elocutionist. His "address" of the afternoon consisted in reciting, without comment, 11 chapters from the Book of Genesis, in the King James Version, telling the story of Joseph and his brethren (Genesis 37-48).

I suppose I had read that story or portions of it, a hundred times, but for me it was a thrilling moment. I had never realized until hearing it all at one time what a marvelous story it was, and with what skill the Bible had told it.

If it had not been a story from the Bible, of primary importance for its truth, it would have been the world's greatest short story.

If the reader will sit down and read the whole story at one sitting, he may grasp something of what I mean, even if he lacks the voice and inflection of a minister-elocutionist.

He will realize the dramatic situations; the elements of tragedy and tension; the suspense and the contrasts.

From every standpoint, I don't know how the facts could have been better arrayed, and the details put together in such a way as to bring out the full force of the story.

But what of its religious significance? Of course, it is the story of Joseph. The brothers, with their varying degrees of decency and rascality, are all, in a fashion, against the young family favorite with his coat of many colors.

But some are willing to save him, or at least his life, from the others who are cruel enough to get rid of him in any way they can.

All are actors in the drama, and Jacob, the old man, with a none-too-wholesome background, plays now in the final tragedy and triumph of his career.

But it is Joseph about whom all the tragedy and triumph centers. He appears at first as a child of Jacob's old age, perhaps a spoiled child, which made his brothers' resentment not unnatural though unjustifiably evil.

And the young Joseph himself makes the situation no better by the boastful superiority of his dreams (Genesis 37:5-8). If we left the story at that point, Jacob would appear as an unwise father, and Joseph as an insufferable ill.

But how wonderfully Joseph emerges into a strong and self-reliant man, as much the master in adversity as the victim of injustice.

It is a story of the strength of integrity, and it has its issue in magnanimity, which beyond integrity is the greatest evidence of great character.

In his power he rises to a great height of forgiveness, and for me at least, there is a notably human and engaging quality in the way he exercised it. "The cup was found in Benjamin's sack."

He was at least justified in having some grim fun at the expense of the brothers who had wronged him.

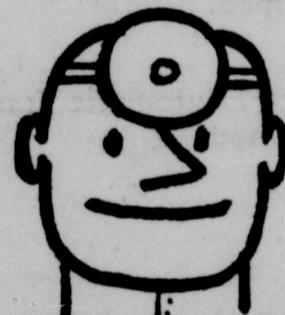

But his rebuke was all the more marked as he did them no wrong in return. Revenge may be natural. But magnanimity is divine.

Holds Revival Meeting

The Rev. and Mrs. James Lamb opened a series of revival meetings at the First Baptist Church in Stover on June 12 and they will continue through June 23. Services start each night at 8 o'clock.

"Feats of Magic" will be given each night. Colored pictures of the Holy Land will be shown and a rainbow choir for children will be held.

Wednesday is Sunday School night and both Sundays have been designated as "high attendance Sundays". Charles A. Whaley is pastor.

Find Girl Slashed To Death

Detroit Area Being Combed For Murderer

DETROIT, June 13—(P)—Slashed and beaten, 6-year-old Mary de Caussin was found slain today in a wooded suburban area 10 miles southwest of Detroit.

The killer ripped off most of the little girl's clothing, slashed her throat, bashed in the back of her head, tied her hands behind her back and left her to bleed to death under a clump of crabapple trees.

Richard Novak, Wayne County sheriff's detective, said the girl apparently was the victim of a sex deviate. An autopsy was ordered.

Police began a roundup of known sex offenders in downriver suburban communities.

VANISHED NEAR HOME

Ecorse township Police Chief Bentley Galloway said two men had been booked for investigation of murder. They were Orville Dibble, 45, an itinerant photographer who posed children with a pet donkey, and Richard Stessen, 18, an iron worker who lives in the township.

The girl disappeared yesterday evening from a street near the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund de Caussin Jr., in Ecorse township.

The parents called police when the child failed to return at dinner time. Thousands of volunteers joined in an all-night search.

FOUND IN WOODS

The body was found at 11 a.m. today at the end of a dirt road in a heavily wooded area about 2½ miles from the De Caussin home.

The girl's father, a technical writer for the Ford Motor Co., had a foreboding of tragedy after the all-night search and said bitterly: "I wouldn't blame the man as much as the society which produces such men. It's a society that allows sex magazines on newsstands for kids to read; a society that measures Hollywood stars by their bosoms, and a society where the telling of dirty stories and the use of foul language is commonplace. These things produce sex perverts out of people who have the slightest abnormal tendencies."

SEARCH FOR CLUES

Paul Panter, 44, found the body, partly concealed by weeds, when he went into the woods near his home to get topsoil for his garden.

Police immediately roped off the area and searched for footprints and car tracks. They took plaster casts of tire tracks found in a nearby mudhole.

The girl was lying on her face. Her panties were missing and her blue shorts were tucked under her shoulders. Her buckle shoes lay nearby. All he had on was her white navy jumper with red collar.

The girl's hands had been tied behind her back with a white shoe lace. Her throat was cut, almost from ear to ear, apparently with a very sharp instrument. No weapons were found at the scene.

SLAIN AT SCENE

Her closely cropped dark hair and her throat were caked with blood. Police said she apparently was slain at the scene.

At the time the body was found, the parents were at home with their parish priest, the Rev. James C. Curtin of St. Pius Roman Catholic church. Mary was a first-grade pupil at the parish school.

Father Curtain, who was summoned to the slaying scene, was the first person who had known the child to identify the body. He was prepared to administer last rites. Turning away, he said, "This is Mary."

Mary was the oldest of four children. She was the granddaughter of Edmund J. de Caussin Sr., deputy chief of the Detroit Fire Department.

Katz Drugs Clerks Picket K. C. Stores

KANSAS CITY, June 13—(P)—Pickets marched in front of 21 Katz Drug Co. stores in Greater Kansas City today as clerks walked out seeking shorter hours.

Workers on strike are members of the Retail Clerks International Union Local No. 732, which voted May 22 to strike in an effort to gain a 5-day, 40-hour week. They are seeking the same salary scale as paid under the present 6-day, 44-hour week.

Supervisory personnel opened the stores on schedule this morning.

Critics Fight Uphill Battle To Slash Foreign Aid Plan

WASHINGTON, June 13—(P)—The $3,637,000,000 foreign aid bill underwent a barrage of fiery denunciation in the Senate today as its critics fought an admittedly uphill battle to cut it by 300 million dollars.

The measure found a champion in Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), who said it is "a bill for peace and freedom."

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) accused the administration of "a senseless waste of millions" which he said has contributed to "a rising tide of anti-Americanism throughout the world."

Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga) said economic aid has been used for everything from "bathing facilities for Egyptian camel drivers" to "collapsible toothpaste tubes to Cambodia."

Despite the verbal fury of the opposition, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) the majority leader,

Negro Bandit Strikes Again Late Thursday

Service Station Is Robbed of $99 At Closing Time

The lone operating Negro bandit made his second filling station holdup in the county about 9 o'clock Thursday night. The bandit held up John Bus Jr., attendant at the Standard Oil Service Station, Main and Missouri, and fled with $99.07 in cash.

In the station with Bus was his father who was also held back at gunpoint by the bandit.

Young Bus reported to the police that he was preparing to lock up the station. He said he had heard a noise in the ladies rest room but thought only that someone was using the room. He had locked the rest room door from the outside a few minutes earlier.

As Bus and his father were in the station and the son was starting to put money in the soda pop cooler, the Negro stepped from the inner door of the rest room and said "give me the money."

The Negro, brandishing a gun, ordered the older of the two into the northeast corner of the room. The younger Bus said he told the holdup man the money wasn't in the cash register. He then said "toss it over here on the floor."

Bus reached into the cooler, got the money sack and tossed it over. He said the man apparently didn't believe it was money and said to throw over the rest. "I convinced him there wasn't any more in the register, only checks, which was right," Bus said.

"The man then ordered me to give him my billfold," Bus continued, "and I took it out and

Three University Instructors Trace 'Huck Finn' Trail

HANNIBAL, Mo., June 13—(P)—Three University of Ohio English teachers today began their trip down the Mississippi River on a raft, following the fictional trail of Mark Twain's "Huck Finn" and "Nigger Jim."

The three young men, all of Athens, Ohio, Robert Hogan, 27; John Violette, 27; and Loren Davidson, 34, left shortly after they finished building their eight by 14 foot craft.

They said the open raft "rode the water lightly" and expect to complete an estimated 300 mile trip from Hannibal to northern Arkansas in three weeks.

Purpose of the trip is to gather material for articles about Mark Twain's story and to have a pleasant summer's outing.

Hogan is a former Sedalian. He is the son of the late Mrs. Felix Sullivan. He received his doctorate in English from the University of Missouri in August of 1956.

Hogan is married and has four children. Mrs. Hogan and the children are visiting in Ozark, Ala., which is her hometown. Bob will return to the University of Ohio after the trip and then go to Alabama to join his family.

Felix Sullivan resides at 1106 South Massachusetts.

Washington, June 13—(P)—President Eisenhower, pronounced completely recovered from his stomach upset, today took "delighted" interest in a projected Republican drive to win more congressional seats in the South.

But Meade Alcorn, GOP national chairman, reported he told the President "Stone Age laws" in some Southern states may thwart Eisenhower's hope of getting Republicans to run in every Dixie district next year.

Alcorn mentioned Georgia as an example and said there is need for revision of election statutes.

Alcorn and I. Lee Potter, the national chairman's new director of campaign activities in the South, met with the President shortly before the White House reported Eisenhower is now "completely recovered" from the stomach distress he suffered earlier this week.

That finding by Eisenhower's physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, was made public by presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty.

The President was stricken Sunday night and confined to bed all Monday. Three attending physicians later attributed the illness to "slight overindulgence in some types of food."

On Tuesday, Eisenhower re-

14 Killed In Truck Smashup

Truck Loaded With Soldiers Misses Curve

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky., June 13—(P)—Fourteen soldiers were killed and nine injured today to make a 2½ ton truck failed to make a curve and overturned on this Army base, home of the 101st Airborne Division.

An official announcement said the big truck careened off a gravel road, straddled the steel guard rail of a bridge over Piney Fork Creek and landed in the shallow water 20 feet below. The soldiers, all paratroopers, were pinned beneath the vehicle.

CLEARED BY 'COPPER'

Maj. Louis A. Breault, base public information officer, said the accident occurred at noon.

He said the casualties were members of the 102nd Airborne Battle Group of the 327th Infantry.

An H-34 helicopter sped to the scene. It lifted the truck enabling removal of the bodies. The helicopter took the injured to the base hospital.

See No Progress Toward Contract For Telegraphers

NEW YORK, June 13—(P)—A federal mediator late today reported "no progress" in negotiations between the AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers Union and The Associated Press. The union's contract expires at midnight.

Commissioner Walter A. Maggioli of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service talked with newsmen during a dinner recess in the wage dispute.

The union meanwhile continued counting votes on whether union members will authorize a strike in the wage dispute.

CTU members operate and maintain teletype and wirephoto equipment in offices of The Associated Press throughout the country. Approximately 650 employees are involved.

The CTU contract expired at midnight Monday, but was extended twice until midnight tonight.

Wanda Elaine Brockman Pledges Marriage Vows With Vern Bohling

On the second day of June Miss Wanda Elaine Brockman and Vern Dean Bohling pledged marriage vows at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Cole Camp before an altar banked with large arrangements of red roses and Mock Orange blossoms. The setting was illuminated by lighted candles in candelabra entwined with greenery. The Rev. Oscar Heimsoth performed the double ring ceremony at six o'clock in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brockman and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bohling, all of Cole Camp.

Mrs. R. C. Berry, Ionia, played "Trumphant," "Evening Star," "Tromari" and "I Love Thee" preceding the ceremony. She accompanied Mrs. Harold Bohling, Columbia, as she sang "O Perfect Love."

Miss Delma Bowers, Warsaw, wearing a light green ballerina length formal, and Miss Elvera Oelrich, wearing a white ballerina length formal, lighted the candles. Their waist corsages were of white carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle over shimmering satin. The fitted lace bodice featured long sleeves and the illusion yoke was finished with an applique of lace at the throat. The softly gathered skirt which lengthened into a chapel length train featured a wide insert of lace below the hipline. Her fingertip illusion veil cascaded from a white bandeau. Her only jewelry was a gold cross and gold earrings, gift from the groom. She carried a white Bible adorned with an orchid.

Miss Shirley Kaiser, Cole Camp, maid of honor, wore a yellow ballerina length formal and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Darlene Sue Mabry Becomes Bride of Theodore Todd May 30

Beneath an arch entwined with smilax and red roses and flanked on either side with arrangements of peonies and red roses Miss Darlene Sue Mabry, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. S. K. Mabry, 2203 West Third, became the bride of Theodore Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Todd, Clifton City, at the Pentecostal Church of God Thursday, May 30. The Rev. E. T. Kelly, assisted by Rev. Corbett Martin, performed the double ring ceremony at one o'clock that afternoon.

Mrs. Donald Vanderlinden, pianist, played a medley of appropriate music preceding the ceremony. Mrs. E. T. Kelly of Alma, Ark., sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." As the couple knelt at the altar at the close of the ceremony Donald Vanderlinden sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Misses Loretta Hoffman and Audrey Case, wearing blue ballerina-length forms lighted the candles. Their wrist corsages were of pink carnations and they wore a bandeau of flowers in their hair.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of nylon tulle with lace applique over taffeta, which lengthened into an aisle wide train. The molded bodice featured a scoop neckline outlined with lace flowers and a tapering lace applique extended down the sleeves which came to a point over the fingers. The skirt was highlighted with lace appliques lavishly scattered about on the tulie overskirt. Her fingertip length veil of illusion fell from a headband of flowers. She carried white carnations on a white Bible.

Immediately preceding the bride to the altar was the flower girl, Phyllis Hassler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hassler, Clifton City. Her dress of pink dotted swiss was designed similar to the bride's. She scattered white rose petals from a small basket.

Miss Dora Todd, Clifton City, maid of honor, and Miss Elva Mae Bishop, bridesmaid, wore identical ballerina length forms of light blue and pink respectively. They carried nosegays of pink carnations. Miss Todd is a sister of the bridegroom.

Sammy Harlan, Clifton City, served as bestman and groomsman was S. K. Mabry Jr., brother of the bride. J. D. Sherman, Bobbie Garrison and Benny Martin of Kansas City, ushered.

Tony Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sherman, carried the rings on a white satin heart shaped pillow.

Mrs. Mabry, mother of the bride, wore a royal blue dress complemented with a pink carnation corsage and Mrs. Todd, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a pink dress with matching hat and white carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

Bouquets of peonies and roses were used throughout the home. The four tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the bride's table, which was covered with a white linen cloth.

Miss Sandra Martin, Miss Lorretta Hoffman, Mrs. Myron Hassler and Miss Audrey Case served the cake and punch. Miss Francis Garrison was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left on a wedding trip to southern Missouri. For traveling the bride chose a pink print sheath dress with matching taffeta and white accessories.

Upon their return they will be at home at 318 West Broadway.

The bride graduated from Smith-Cotton High School in 1956 and is employed in the office of Town and Country.

The bridegroom served two years with the Army and is employed at the National Engineering Co.

Miss Katherine Koeller is United In Marriage With Wm. S. Hanna

Miss Katherine Nadine Koeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Koeller, 820 East 13th, was united in marriage with William S. Hanna, Houstonia, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hanna, Sturgeon, at two o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 1, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Walter F. Strickert, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, performed the ceremony before two large arrangements of gladioli and peonies.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a street length dress of bridal satin and lace designed with fitted bodice and flared skirt. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Pittman were the only attendants. Mrs. Pittman wore a yellow dress and corsage of blue tinted carnations.

Mrs. Koeller wore a navy blue and white print dress and Mrs. Hanna was attired in a navy dress. Both mothers had white carnation corsages.

A reception for 85 guests followed the ceremony.

Mrs. C. L. Gregory, St. Louis, Mrs. R. L. Stahl, Hammond, Ind., Mrs. Richard Felker and Mrs. Kenneth Schreiner served at the bride's table. Mrs. Wanda Eichholz was in charge of the guest book.

The bride graduated from Smith-

Yoests Are Hosts to IFYE Iran Delegate

Mrs. Agnes Yoest and her son, Donald, who live near Tipton, are active participants in the Flying Eagles 4-H Club. Now they are cooperating in the International Farm Youth Exchange program conducted through the National 4-H Club Foundation, State 4-H Club Department and the Moniteau County 4-H Club Council.

Mrs. Yoest and Don are the host family for Reza Saeb, the IFYE delegate from Iran. His sponsor is the Ford Foundation. Reza, who has completed six years of primary school, six years secondary school and one year at the Teheran University is presently a student studying rural economics and is a credit manager at the Jagerud Rural Cooperative. His farm experience record shows that he has lived on a 100-acre farm for 12 years. The major crops on his father's farm are cotton, pistachio and other fruit trees. Their main livestock is sheep.

Although Islam is Reza's religion he claims no restrictions on food and his lunch in Jefferson City last Monday consisted of a bacon, tomato and lettuce sandwich and a dish of ice cream. He likes to drink milk, too.

Reza's native language is Persian, but he also speaks Aramaic and can read English and speaks it very well. In fact, he acted as interpreter for the Middle East Exchanges when they arrived at IFYE headquarters in Silver Springs, Md., in April.

Reza had already spent one month in Missouri, living in Audrain County. After his month's visit in Moniteau County he will live with a family in Carol County. While living with Mrs. Yoest and Donald, Reza will be treated not as guest or a hired hand, but as a member of the family. The Yoests have accepted the responsibility of acquainting their IFYE brother with the 4-H club program, farm life, rural cooperatives and community activities in Moniteau County. When Reza Saeb was asked what impressed him here in the United States, he said, "fine farms, wooden houses and beautiful girls."

Miss Sandra Martin, Miss Lorretta Hoffman, Mrs. Myron Hassler and Miss Audrey Case served the cake and punch. Miss Francis Garrison was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left on a wedding trip to southern Missouri. For traveling the bride chose a pink print sheath dress with matching taffeta and white accessories.

Critics Fight

(Continued from page one) Calif., the Republican leader, were working shoulder-to-shoulder to keep the sums in the bill intact on the assumption they will be "adjusted downward" in a later bill providing actual cash.

Johnson said it would be dangerous to make substantial cuts until Senate and House Appropriations committees review the entire program and recommend the funds to finance it. The pending bill merely sets ceilings on spending.

SEEKS COMPLETION

Johnson said he hoped all action on the measure can be completed Saturday night.

He was able to put through a unanimous consent agreement limiting debate, starting about 10 a.m. tomorrow. Under the agreement, debate on any amendment will be limited to two hours, on final passage to three hours.

Morse joined Sen. Long (D-La.) in a drive to cut military assistance for the fiscal year starting July 1 from $1,800,000,000 to $1,500,000,000 and defense supports from $800 to $70 million dollars.

Bolshevik's Assassin Restrained of Parole Under Mexican Ruling

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The man who assassinated Leon Trotsky has lost another bid for freedom.

The 1st Circuit Court ruled yesterday Jacques Mornard cannot be freed from prison before his 20-year sentence is completed in 1966 because foreigners who enter Mexico illegally are not eligible for parole.

Mornard fatally injured the exiled Russian Bolshevik in 1940. His 20-year prison term was the maximum under Mexican law. He would have been eligible for parole in 1953, after serving two-thirds of his sentence, under ordinary Mexican practice.

To Turn Power Lines Over to Raytown

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The State Public Service Commission today authorized Missouri Power and Light Co. of Jefferson City to turn over to Missouri Public Service Co. of Raytown its power distribution lines just northeast of Liberty, Mo.

Missouri Power and Light's operation there would be transferred at a price of $6,972. The area is adjacent to Missouri Public Service Co.'s operation at Liberty and well separates from Power and Light's main operations in central and northern Missouri.

Highway Bids

Benton County, Route AA, will have 7.8 miles of grading, bridging and surfacing to extend a section now under construction from its eastern terminus, about seven miles southeast of Fristoe, on eastward and northwesternly to route 35, near the Camden County line.

This includes a triple 12 by 13-foot concrete box culvert at Little Deer Creek and a 114 feet truss from Route AA will be constructed. Bids have been requested for this work. This will take place at a point about three miles southeast of the AA and 35 junction near the Camden county line in southeastern Benton County, south to the Hickory County line.

Route HH in Cooper County will receive 5.6 miles of grading, bridging and surfacing from Route M to Pilot Grove to the northwest. This includes a 116-foot I-beam and truss over Brushy Creek.

It will be erected on the lawn of the present Johnson County courthouse, about seven blocks from the site of the old courthouse in which Senator Vest gave his famous "Eulogy To A Dog," speech on Sept. 23, 1870. It was made during a trial in which Charles Burden sought damages for the death of the dog from Leonidas Hornsby.

Police Reports

Harold Bailey, Warsaw, reported to the police his wife lost her small black cloth purse containing a small amount of money and a yellow gold 21-jewel lady's Elgin wristwatch, in the vicinity of Sixth and Osage.

CONTROL NOT SOLUTION

"It is claimed that a system of control would facilitate a solution because, supposedly, a system of control would solve all problems. But no system of control can solve the problem of disarmament because it cannot prevent any state from planning aggression if it wants to. No system of control can prevent the hiding of atomic and hydrogen weapons or their clandestine production."

Khrushchev's reply: "Disarmament is possible only with mutual confidence, particularly among the great powers which possess the biggest armed forces and nuclear weapons. As long as there is lack of mutual confidence the problem is difficult."

The Cal Rodgers Motor Co., Fifth and Kentucky, reported thieves visited the car lot next to the garage sometime Wednesday night. Stolen was one new wheel and tire, 800 x 14 white sidewall, front floor mat and four new chrome hub caps, all valued over $100. The articles were taken from the trunk of the car. It was not known whether the trunk had been left unlocked or the thief stole a trunk key sometime during the day.

W. E. Carlton, 116 West Main, reported to the police that sometime Thursday someone broke a Yale lock on the front door to his store, but did not gain entrance.

Finkbeiner was rumored as a possible candidate for the office last year, but apparently changed his mind a short time before the filing deadline.

He told the group of professional and business men that he would run for Arkansas governor in 1958 "come what may."

Finkbeiner is in Warren to serve as judge tonight at the annual Tomato Festival here. He had asked the group of men to attend the luncheon.

The Little Rock meat packer is president of the national Independent Meat Packers Association.

He has been considered a potential candidate since a rumor started in 1956 shortly before the filing deadline that he would run.

"He has a great talent and should have the opportunity to develop it," said Mrs. Julianne Kemper Beckett yesterday in court. She said the support payments for William Sutherland Beckett would come from a trust fund established for her by her father.

Mrs. Beckett was awarded the contested divorce after testifying that Beckett had "an ungovernable temper" and struck her on several occasions. They were married in 1948 and have three children.

Family Affair

WELCH, Okla. (AP)—School officials selected Larry Swango as valedictorian of the high school graduating class here and Lora Mae Durham as salutatorian.

Then they learned it was a family affair. The two 17-year-old sons were married secretly last August, but it wasn't disclosed until the bride's mother found the marriage license in her daughter's room.

Plea for More Agricultural Capital Seen

Non-Real Estate Credit Is Expected Double in 10 Years

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 13—(UPI)—Representatives of Missouri's 13 production credit associations were told tonight that prospects are that the demand for increased agricultural capital will continue.

Speaking at a dinner meeting, Ray E. Miller, Osage Beach, Mo., former official of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, said "it is not unreasonable to expect the amount of non-real estate credit to double in the next 10 years."

UP 324 PERCENT

He reported that outstanding agricultural loans held by commercial banks and production credit associations has increased by 324 per cent during the 15-year period from 1940 to 1955. Not included, he added, are loans by the Farmers Home Administration, merchant credit and other types of unrecorded farm debt.

Miller said that as farms grow in size, in capital requirements and complexity of operation, the farmer must not only be an expert in techniques of production but be an agricultural economist and skillful money manager.
